Real-time reporting is a business intelligence practice that consists of gathering up-to-the-minute data and relaying it to users as it happens. Information is presented in its most current form for managers to easily make quick decisions when under heavy time constraints.

Onboarding software supports the initiation of communication between the new hire and the employer before the start date. This enables the employee to be more productive sooner and integrate into their team quicker. It also allows both the employee and hiring manager to track paperwork and item tracking progress.

Hire and On-boarding

Onboarding systems are also designed to automate and streamline many of the more time-consuming HR administrative tasks that come with bringing new employees into an organization.
